May your 2021 be happy and joyous!

How joyous I am, my heart and mind being rooted in the Buddha - Ground of the universal Vow... — Shinran (1173-1263)

I trust you and your family are all well and doing fine. I heard this winter in Alberta will be much colder than usual. Please take care of yourselves.

Since the COVID-19 pandemic started this year we have been living the life of uncertainty and constant worry, even ominous fear. When we come to think of it, however, we are living in the life of impermanence and an ever-changing world from the very beginning when we were born; therefore, death, dying, parting from our loved ones and good friends are inevitable. Everything is changing, nothing remains unchanged. This is the Universal Law and it is not a pessimistic view but a realistic one.

In a sense, the COVID-19 pandemic gives each of us an opportunity to remember this solemn reality of ever-changing life. At the same time, it raises questions about where and what we should stand on, what we should rely on to achieve peace and serenity in our heart and mind amid such a situation. There is an old saying: Be sure you put your feet in the right place, then stand firm.

In our everyday life we rely on wealth, social position, health, family ties and so on. But are they not also changing and disappearing moment by moment? Can these be the right places to depend? Are we able to stand on them firmly? These questions come to our mind. The answer is negative. And yet we are deeply relying on them, standing on them as if they provide a safe place, a refuge. When these are threatened by unexpected conditions such as a pandemic, we grow fearful.

It is our ignorance to firmly rely on such factors as a final refuge. The stronger we cling to them, the more we feel uncertain and fearful. Our fear is of our own making. We know it and understand it well and still we cling. Our ignorance and arrogance are so deep. Therefore, our fear is fathomless.

This is the reason why the Vow of Amida Buddha of infinite wisdom and boundless compassion has taken many, many years-five kalpas, uncountable years--for thoughts and practices to liberate such ignorant people from fear to great peace. We must be aware that nothing in this world gives us such great peace.

Even science which has developed remarkably is not able to take away our fear. In this sense, we are not able to find everlasting peace on this earth. Shakyamuni Buddha in India said that Amida's compassionate Vow which is beyond this world and at the same time embraces us always gives us unchanging peace.

Indeed, whatever we can rely on and stand on are like trees that have no roots. Sooner or later they will crumble by the unexpected winds. They easily disappear when conditions change. Thus, amid changing life and world, Shinran was made to realize to stand himself on the Buddha Ground of Universal Vow that is filled with compassion embracing all equally with no discrimination.

Listening to Amida's Vow which embraces all sentient beings as they are, we are nurtured and brought standing firmly on our spiritual ground, Buddha-ground, which will never change and disappear under any condition. On the Buddha-ground, we, for the first time, are able to enjoy this life with peace, strength and hope no matter how our world changes.

BTSA Notes from the Board of Directors

A. The number of COVID cases in the province of Alberta continue to rise at an alarming rate. The Provincial Government released revised COVID restriction guidelines on Nov. 13th and was expected to release further restrictions during the week of Nov. 23rd. This will continue until the end of December. Relaunch strategy will be reassessed at the December Board meeting to determine plans for January. During this suspension the Odori group (Mondays) and Explore Buddhism group (Saturdays at 10:30 AM) continue to meet via zoom. If you would like to join the Odori group please contact Pat Sassa and if you would like to join the Explore Buddhism group contact Bob Muscovich.

Kalyana-mitra (Good Friend... to lead to the Dharma of the Nembutsu)

I heard a following story. Well, over 200 years ago in Japan, there was a physician named Jukan and another physician, Genshu. They lived in neighbouring villages.

One day Genshu went to see Jukan and stayed at his place. As Genshu was a devout Jodo Shinshu follower, he wanted to pay respect to Amida Buddha in Jukan's family shrine but there was no room for the Buddha. Asked why, Jukan said scornfully, "Hell and the Pure Land are spoken by ignorant priests. How would learned people concern themselves with such matters?" Genshu was speechless. He retired to the bedroom and reflected, "There are indeed people of little association with Buddha. As for me, how fortunate!" After quietly reciting the Nembutsu in gratitude, he went to sleep.

Three years later, Genshu went to see a patient in Jukan's village. He wanted to greet Jukan at the doorstep. Jukan joyfully came out to greet him and courteously led him in, straight to a family shrine. As Jukan opened the folding door, a magnificent scroll of Amida Buddha was enshrined inside. Genshu was surprised and asked Jukan, "How in the world did this come about?"

D. The new web page for BTSA has been released. Thank you to Arjan Gil for creating it and stream lining the information on our page. It is much easier to navigate and has a much cleaner aesthetic. Please visit the web page at the thebtsa.com and give us your feedback.

E. The BTSA continues to produce regular podcasts about everyday life and Buddhism. If you have not checked it out please search for A Buddhist Life podcast from wherever you download podcasts. These are 30 to 60 minute discussions related to many different topics and how Buddhism affects our way of thinking. The most recent is an interview with Andrew Ichikawa about music therapy and Buddhism. If you are having trouble finding our podcast please contact Brenda or Roland Ikuta who can help you find them. You can also access the podcasts directly from our new webpage.

F. The Shotsuki service for December will be broadcast on our YouTube channel on Dec. 6 at 10:30 a.m. If you are having difficulties accessing our services or would like to make comments please contact Roland.

G. In financial news the temple will have lower income this year mostly due to the loss of revenue from the cancellation of our Chow Mein Suppers. Our expenses for the temple are also lower but we will definitely run a deficit budget this year. In good news the solar panels have generated a credit of $704.66 for the month of September which can be put forward for future utilities costs. We are expecting to generate credits for at least 7-8 months of the year.

H. If you have any concerns or issues related to the temple please contact any of the board of directors.

Jukan shed tears and said, "My beloved daughter died last year at the age of six. Before she died, she asked me where she would go after death. Overwhelmed by sadness but in order to give peace to her mind, I told her that when she died she would go to a beautiful world called the Pure Land of Amida Buddha. She further asked me what she should do to be born there. Without knowing exactly what to say, I involuntarily assured her, 'Amida Buddha is the compassionate one. Put your palms together and say Namo Amida Buddha (to rely on Aimida Buddha) in gratitude, then you can go there.'

'Happy and thankful!' said she, and then single-heartedly repeated the Nembutsu until she died. This incident brought me to visit the temple to listen to the Dharma and reflect on my life. While listening to the Dharma of the Nembutsu more and more, I realized my misunderstanding of the Nembutsu teaching. Having come to enjoy the same taste of shinjin - an Entrusting Heart- with you, I have requested the temple Amida Buddha's picture for me. Please forgive my rudeness some years ago."

After that, Genshu and Jukan were firmly tied in the lifelong friendship of Dharma of the Nembutsu.

The sadness and unfortunate experiences often provide for us the great opportunity to awaken to the Amida's Universal Compassion by which we truly become one.

THE BUDDHIST TEMPLE OF SOUTHERN ALBERTA CHILDREN & YOUTH

For 3- 5 years old children

Do you run fast? If you run with me now I know you will win. I am much, much older than you. Actually, I'm too old to run. But at your age I used to run fast, not VERY but quite fast.

I remember when I was at your age, we had a running competition, 200 meters! Can you believe it? It was long way for us to run. It was nice day. We could see blue sky. We could see one teacher very far away standing at the finishing line. Another teacher was standing with us at the starting point. Thirty of us stood at the starting line. The teacher said: "Are you ready all? Get set. One, two, three. Run!" We ran, ran and ran with all our might. After 100 meters one of my friends who is much taller than I was running ahead of us all. I was running behind him. I tried to pass him. Then, all of a sudden I tripped and fell. "Ouch!" My cry was loud. The teacher at the goal line ran to help me. My tall friend stopped, looked at me. You know what? He also ran to me. The teacher and the tall friend came to me and asked, "Are you alright?" at the same time. "Yes," I said and got up and started to run limping. My tall friend helped me, ran with me and finally arrived at the goal together.

When you happen to see your friend get hurt or in trouble please stop and ask "Are you all right?"

Activities for Home

Read Izumi Sensei's story and then act it out. This might involve people in your family playing the different roles, using toys (stuffies, lego, dolls, figurines, etc.) or drawing out the story.

Talk about what you would do in this situation (in all different roles). Why?

For 6 to 10 years old

One very cold night, a homeless person knocked on a door of an old temple. The temple was not only old but also appeared to be poor. The elderly priest was living there alone. The homeless man was barely standing. When the priest heard the faint sound of knocking on the door he opened it. There, he saw an old man like himself who literally was in rags and shivering from the severe cold. The priest quickly invited him in and took him by the side of a small fireplace in his humble room. The man was really shivering. The priest needed something more to keep the man warm but couldn't find anything. He looked at Buddha's image, a wooden standing statue. He immediately decided to take it down and threw it into the fireplace. The wooden statue started to burn and strong flames rose. Because of this the homeless was able to gain strength. In this way the priest saved his life. What do you think? The priest can buy another Buddha's image but not the life of a person. Is it not Buddha's teaching to save and help even one person in suffering?

Activities for Home

Trace your hand on a sheet of paper. In different parts of the "helping hand" write or draw ways you can help, or have helped others. You can be more specific too and think about how you've helped others during the COVID pandemic, such as wearing a mask, washing hands, limiting visits, etc.

Write a letter or make a card for someone you love, in your household or living somewhere else. Let them know why you are thankful to have them in your life.

Gather up any extra winter clothes and blankets that no longer fit or are not used anymore and consider donating to a local organization. Why is this important?

JSBTC President's Diary

Even though several COVID vaccines are nearing the approval stage, our infection rates are terrible, and it is likely that the next month will be a dire time for Canadians. Several provinces are back in lockdown, which means that most of the Temples are once again closed. I know that we are all tired and frustrated, wishing that life was "normal" again. But it is not, and instead we have to work towards what will be our new "normal". The JSBTC Board, the Ministerial Association, and the Women's Federation held their interim fall meetings via Zoom, necessitating limited agendas. As well, we have decided that the AGM in April, 2021 will also be held via Zoom.

As was mentioned in the last edition of the Nenju News, the JSBTC urgently requires more board members. The JSBTC bylaws state that there must be at least six directors, but as of January 1st, there will only be five, and another director will retiring at the AGM. The Board and the Temple presidents are meeting (Zoom of course) on December 1st to discuss this; if you want more information or can help in any way, please contact me or your Temple president.

On a positive note, good things are happening. The new JSBTC website has launched, thanks to the dedicated work of Robert Miyai and Harvey Kaita. Check it out: www.jsbtc.ca Thank you, Robert and Harvey.

Also, we continue to build the national sangha through national events. Socho has arranged for Rev. Henry Adams of San Mateo Buddhist Temple in California to speak to us, via Zoom, on December 19th, entitled "Waking up to Peace of Mind in the Age of Conflict and Distorted Views". This talk is open to everyone (not just temple members), but pre-registration is required.

This is the pre-registration link which can also be found under "Events" on the JSBTC website: https://us02web. zoom.us/meeting/register/tZEqduGhqz4oGtyCGO7fAou6u 8XTX2i4nZxR.

In addition to our regular services via Zoom, Facebook, and YouTube, Buddhist Churches of America has shared its Dial the Dharma program. This program works through telephone and is especially meant for people who do not have access to a computer or internet. The program has 5-minute Dharma messages, one in English and one in Japanese, and they are changed every week on Wednesday. The toll-free number is 1-800-817-7918, press "1" for English and "2" for Japanese. Please make use of this service which BCA has so kindly shared with us.

Personally, November has been a month of reflection for me. On November 1st, I was at the Calgary Buddhist Temple for Sunday service. When I arrived, Grace, our Dharma School student (greeter and COVID enforcer), reminded me to "Chant with your heart, not with your mouth". What good advice! Robert Sensei chanted Shoshinge in Gyo-fu style; it was so peaceful to sit in the Temple and just let the beautiful sound of the chant and Sensei's voice wash over me. Then Sensei's dharma talk was on pandemic fatigue, which was appropriately followed that afternoon with a Calgary Buddhist Temple Zoom lecture by Dr. Ken Tanaka (from Tokyo) on "Living with the Pandemic from a Buddhist Perspective".

Remembrance Day is of course truly a day of contemplation. This year it marked the 100th anniversary of the Japanese Canadian war memorial in Stanley Park, and the speakers at the event spoke of the commitment Japanese Canadians made fighting on behalf of Canada and of their families' experiences after the wars and during internment. It was especially meaningful in the context of the racial inequalities and issues which still affect so many different people today. I am grateful that Ted Akune, President of the BC JSBTC Federation, laid a wreath at the memorial on behalf of the BBCJSBTCF. This period of remembrance concluded with Sensei Roy Akune's moving Dharma talk the following Sunday at Steveston Buddhist Temple.

And finally November 22nd was the Eitaikyo or Perpetual Memorial service at the Calgary Buddhist Temple. Robert Sensei spoke of the meditative and connecting roles of chanting, which made me think again of the first service this month and how moving I found his chanting of the Shoshinge Gyo-fu style. He concluded the service by reading Rev. Tsuji's Eternal Now, which was very fitting for this month.

Looking back at the month, I realized that I attended five temple services, four meetings, a BCA webinar, and a seminar, and I was only physically present at one event. The rest were all thanks to Zoom. The new normal indeed!

I hope that you are all well and staying safe. As always, if you have any questions, comments, or suggestions, please email me. I like to hear from you!

With gratitude and in Gassho, Laura laura.a.sugimoto@gmail.com
